JAPAN TO BE ASKED FOR CHINA STATEMENT

State Department Will Make No Protest on Oriental Policy.

A demand for a full and complete statement of the intention of Japan in her latest demands on China will be the only action taken by the United States at this time. The State Department has decided that under present conditions this is the only diplomatic course open to this country, and that it is necessary that the Japanese government be placed on record for the benefit of future negotiations.

protest or aggressive action against No protest or aggressive action against the Japanese acts or policy in China will be made by the United States at this time. The State Department is unwilling to begin a serious controversy in the far East while Europe is seething with war and while this country is involved in the aumerous difficulties growing out of that struggle. For this reason there will be a discountry and the seed of the seed til be no diplomatic protest against spanese aggressions in China until the surropean war has ended and its inter-ational complications, have been re-
